Report Drive For Taft-Dewey Convention Slate

Move To Draft Taft And Dewey Now Developing

G. O. P. Convention Will Begin To Hear Nominating Speeches Today

PLATFORM WILL FIRST BE ADOPTED

Former President Hoover Makes Stirring Address Tuesday Night

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, June 26.—A spontaneous move to draft Taft and Dewey spread today among delegates to the Republican national convention, as they prepared to approve a decisive anti-war platform before listening to nominating speeches.

Movement for a Robert A. Taft-Thomas E. Dewey ticket came from the unbossed delegates who are dead-set against the nomination of Wendell Willkie—and they may act on their own initiative from the floor of the convention if the coalition is not offered them shortly.

Managers of the Taft, Dewey and Willkie camps meanwhile saw no threats to their campaigns in the convention appearance of former President Herbert Hoover. The ex-president came, was seen, but failed to conquer.

See No Hoover Drafting

His visit had been heralded by his friends as affording an opportunity to stampede the convention to his renomination. Actually, Hoover impressed his audience as a tired veteran statesman. He was given several ovations and his speech an excellent reception, but it created no demand to draft him.

Many delegates thought Hoover made the greatest speech of his career, so far as the words he uttered were evaluated. But these same delegates observed that his delivery

Canal Forces On Wartime Basis

Mine Fields Also Laid To Protect Approaches To Panama Canal

(International News Service)

BALBOA, C. Z., June 26.—With mine fields laid to protect both Atlantic and Pacific aproaches to the Panama Canal, the entire Canal Zone armed forces today were placed on virtually a wartime basis and batteries of coast artillery were moved to strengthen American defenses at both ends of the waterway across the isthmus.

Two batteries of 14-inch coast artillery guns have been transferred from the Pacific side to the Atlantic to strengthen the latter position, and military authorities admitted that mine layers have sown a mine field at both approaches to the canal.

They refused, however, to explain the action or to say whether the mines are loaded or are soon to be picked up.

To Stand By

Meanwhile, the 30,000 soldiers in the Canal Zone became, in military parlance, "on the alert", and it was learned that since last week-end air corps men in the Zone have been ordered to stand by for call to duty without warning day or night.

The Italian liner Conte Biancamano, tied up in Balboa's outer harbor since Italy's entry into the war, transited the canal yesterday

Willkie Forces Seek Delegates From New York

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, June 26.—Wendell L. Willkie today launched a new drive to capture some of the 60 New York state delegates who remain pledged to Thomas E. Dewey.

Willkie met with leaders of his New York bloc as Dewey delegates reported increasing pressure from their home districts to switch their allegiance from the youthful prosecutor to the utilities magnate.

This pressure, the Dewey delegates insisted has not borne fruit Some of them told back home constituents, over the telephone, that they feel morally bound to stand by Dewey as long as he has a chance, because he made his nationwide drive for support on their earlier assurance of support. They also reminded the Willkie adherents in their home districts that they were overwhelmingly in favor of Dewey before the Willkie boom got underway.

Hoover Occupying Leading Role At G.O.P. Convention

By BART RICHARDS

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 26.—New Year's Eve in Philadelphia is something more than the night the new year comes in. Its the time for the annual Mummers Parade and to show the visiting delegates how it is done, the folks here put on a Mummers' parade Tuesday night.

For some reason which nobody seems to be able to explain, most of the bands are stringed instrument affairs. The costumes favor the Oriental in design and the Mummers actually seem to enjoy themselves. Certainly the spectators, which seemed to number at least a million enjoyed it.

Philadelphia likes parades. Where New York or Chicago put on a parade as a piece of business, Philadelphia seems to put it on with the

Lightning Damages East Side Homes

Damage Done To Several Homes During Early Morning Storm

With a deafening crash, a bolt of lightning struck a large maple tree, at the rear of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sanfilippo, 619 Superior street, and several houses nearby, at 3:30 o'clock, this morning.

Windows wre broken, radio tubes blown out, and other damage was done in the vicinity.

At Mr. and Mrs. Richard Miller's home, rear 617 Superior street, the large window pane, next to the tree, was crashed in; the lightning injured the radio, travelled on into the bathroom, struck the hot water tank, and caused it to leak. At the Sanfilippo home, two windows were broken, and radio tubes destroyed; at Riney's, 648 East Washington street, five window panes were broken; and at Joe Tomasello's, 625 East Washington street, two windows were shattered.

Mrs. Ferd Fredericks, of 619 Superior street, states that when the lightning hit the tree, it seemed to be a mass of flames, and was a thrilling sight.

The large trunk of the maple has been somewhat cracked by the impact of the bolt, and bears much evidence of searing by the electric flame.

Utility employees have been calling at the homes affected, checking up on any damage done.

Paraders Boost James Campaign

Several Hundred Men, Wearing Miners' Caps March For Governor In Philadelphia

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, June 26. — A parade of several hundred men wearing symbolic miners' caps and carrying canes marched through central city streets today in a demonstration supporting the presidential nomination candidacy of Gov. Arthur H. James.

The marchers assembled outside headquarters of the Philadelphia Republican city committee, tramped joyously around city hall and down Broad street past the national Republican committee offices in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel.

Then they surged back to Chestnut street and down to the Benjamin Franklin Hotel where the governor himself reviewed the line of march from his headquarters on the mezzanine floor.

Shout James' Slogans

One of Philadelphia's famed string bands accompanied the demonstrators who enlivened the proceedings by shouting James' slogans. Mid-city traffic was snarled while the parade lasted.

The paraders carried signs which read: "Always a winner" and "He licked the New Deal in '38—he can do it again in '40." Others displayed large pictures of the governor, James buttons and badges also were worn by the boosters.

Governor James Asks Delegates To Stick Together

ROME, June 26—Soldiers of Fascist Italy today began taking over positions of strategic importance in French Mediterranean and African territories, as Rome and Berlin moved swiftly to concentrate their joint power in a tremendous assault against England, their sole remaining adversary.

As provided for by the Italo-French armistice agreement, officially revealed last night, Italian troops today began taking over control of Djibouti, key port of French Somaliland, as well as the vital Djibouti-Addis Ababa railway.

Simultaneously, Italy was placed in positions of tactical importance which threatened effectively to bottle up the British fleets and naval bases in the Mediterranean, stopping English maritime traffic to India and the far east by way of the short route via the Gibraltar-Mediterranean-Suez-Red sea route.

Activities Against Britain Increasing

Berlin Reports Air And Naval Assaults Are Being Extended

(International News Service)

BERLIN, June 26.—Increasing air and naval activities against England were disclosed today in the German war communique which said:

"In the west, there were no particular events.

"On the night of June 25-26, our fighters successfully attacked several airports and aviation industry plants in central England.

"It is now revealed that we bombed an enemy transport of approximately 7,000 tons off Bayonne (France) on June 24, resulting in violent explosion and fire.

"A submarine torpedoed the armed British Steamer Saranac, 12,000 tons, and two additional armed enemy merchantmen southweste of Ireland.

"Our chasers shot down two or three British Bristol-Blenheims again attempting to attack the airport at Stavanger-Sola. A third plane disappeared without attacking.

"There were bombings by British planes of northern and western Germany. No military objectives were hit and only slight damage was done. So far as is known, four people were killed."

Republican Platform Will Firmly Oppose Involvement In War

By GRIFFING BANCROFT JR.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, June 26.—The Republican convention met today to approve an outspoken platform which charges "the new deal has failed America," brands the Democratic administration as tending "to involve us in war" and firmly opposes any such involvement.

Approved except for final phrasing by the resolutions committee, the document makes certain that the presidential campaign this fall will be fought out primarily on a war-versus-peace issue. The full convention was to receive the platform late today. Since it has been approved by both leading isolationists as well as allied sympathiers, no opposition is expected.

As a special drafting committee met behind closed doors to polish up the final wording, details of the controversial foreign policy plank became known. This, as tentatively written, declares:

Hoover Removes Self As Possible Nominee

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, June 26.—Former President Herbert Hoover virtually removed himself as a possible G.O.P. nominee for 1940 today.

Asked at a press conference this morning if he considered himself "available as a nominee at this time," Hoover replied:

"I don't think you see any evidences of that so far as I am concerned in Philadelphia."

At the same time, Hoover made it plain that whoever the candidate might be, he would support him in the coming campaign.

No Conferences

He said that as far as he was concerned he was keeping hands off the convention, and that he was making no efforts to confer with "anybody."

"I believe there should be no interference with the determinations of this convention," Hoover asserted. "I do not believe in two o'clock conferences. This is a representative body and a deliberative body.

"Whoever is selected, I shall support."

With that figurative pat on the back for a convention which so far has been pretty generally regarded as "unbossed," Hoover turned to the question of international affairs. He reiterated his plea—voiced last night in a fighting speech to the convention—for a strong G.O.P. stand against war.

To Present Platform

He emphatically warned against this nation incurring the "bitterness" of any of the belligerents in Europe's war and declared that the United States should maintain a position in the world whereby it could wield "great moral and econ-

State Delegates May Shift On Early Ballot

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, June 26.—The Pennsylvania delegation, second largest at the Republican national convention, today found itself facing a three-way split among the presidential candidates unless Gov. Arthur H. James can increase his strength after the first ballot.

This appeared to be the situation as the time for balloting neared, with James' name expected to be presented to the convention possibly today but more probably Thursday:

1. Governor James is expected to receive the votes of the entire delegation of 72 on the first ballot.

2. There will be some defections to Willkie on the second ballot—approximately 16 if the claims of former State Sen. Frank Harris, Allegheny County leader who heads the Pennsylvania Willkie bloc, are accepted; four or five according to estimates of the James leaders.

3. If James' vote fails to increase after the first ballot and Willkie and Dewey fail to win the nomination, a large bloc of Pennsylvania votes, perhaps as many as 50, may be cast for Taft once the Pennsylvania leaders are convinced James' race is futile.

There is some minor sentiment in the delegation for Rep. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts and Herbert Hoover.

Willkie Gets Support Of Gov. Stassen

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, June 26.—Talk of "drafting" a Taft-Dewey ticket grew stronger this afternoon among delegates to the Republican convention as its keynoter, Governor Harold Stassen, startled both camps by declaring for Wendell Willkie, the utility executive and ex-Democrat.

Managers of both Ohio Senator Robert A. Taft and New York racket buster Thomas E. Dewey were pleased earlier when former President Herbert Hoover removed himself from the list of 1940 possibilities. The Taft-Dewey managers had feared Hoover might initiate a stampede to himself but at a press conference, the former president declared himself out of the race.

But the Stassen declaration for Willkie gave them deep cause for concern. It meant Willkie was gaining ground in raiding the northwest —the stronghold of his rivals.

Japan Establishes Monroe Doctrine

Foreign Policy Being Changed

Japanese Deny Move To Secure Protectorate Over Netherlands East Indies

WILL PUSH CHINA WAR TO CONCLUSION

(International News Service)

TOKYO, June 26.—The Japanese cabinet today established "a Monroe Doctrine in the far east" as the foreign office denied that the sending of "observers" to French Indo-China constituted the first move in a campaign to secure a Nipponese protectorate over the Netherlands East Indies.

Changes in Japan's foreign policy in the face of the European war situation were submitted to the cabinet, after which the "Monroe Doctrine" policy was decided upon. This will include pushing the China "incident" to a rapid conclusion; non-involvement of Japan in the European conflict and establishment of Japan as the "stabilizing force" in East Asia.

Japan made it clear that she will not permit intervention of any foreign powers in Indo-China or the Dutch East Indies. Her strengthened policy, it was stated, is not inclined in favor of the Rome-Berlin axis partners.

Japan refuses to help either side in the European war, or aid America, it was stressed. She is acting solely for a self-sufficient economic structure in East Asia.

Simultaneously the influential newspaper Asahi Shimbun reported the move of the cabinet, declaring the action was taken with a view to "preventing any western power from interferring in East Asia, including French Indo-China and the Netherlands East Indies."

A foreign office spokesman said he could not confirm that Japanese naval units had been sent to Haiphong—only that "observers" had been sent to Indo-China to watch developments concerning shipment of goods to the Chungking government in China via French Indo-China.

MOVE TO DRAFT TAFT AND DEWEY NOW DEVELOPING

fell far short of that night in Cleveland four years ago when he brought another convention to its feet time and again, cheering madly. He might have had a nomination that night, but 1940 will pass him by.

New Deal Is "War Party"

Hoover, however, proved one thing that the leaders knew in advance. It is that this convention is ready to take on President Roosevelt in the fall, brand the New Deal the "war party" and pledge itself aaginst taking the United States into any foreign war—except to defend American shores against invasion.

The ex-president drew his greatest applause when he said:

"We must develop and maintain foreign policies that keep us out of these wars unless we are attacked"

His second greatest response came after he decried the New Deal's expenditure of vast sums in election years, when he said:

Election, Not Auction

"At the end of this debate, we ought to have an election, not an auction."

And after pledging the Republicans to battle against the "totalitarian liberalism" of the New Deal, he won another great cheer when he said:

"This is a battle which Americans better not lose."

It was a really great speech but its delivery can be understood by the remark of one delegate: "If the Hoover who talked to us at Cleveland had made that speech tonight, the story would be different."

"Taft-Dewey Ticket"

The demand for a Taft-Dewey ticket arose among delegates while leaders of other camps were asserting again that "Willkie has been stopped". The Willkie boom has slowed down, despite tremendous pressure from outside Philadelphia. Even the letter barrage is ending. Now, Willkie seems to be on his own in securing delegates and the western revolt against him possibly has ended his raids on other camps.

There has been much talk of a Taft-Dewey coalition although their managers deny having even considered it. Despite their denials, an authoritative source says that David Ingalls, chief Taft manager, has been consulting with Mrs. Ruth Baker Pratt, national committeewoman from New York and a Dewey manager.

Ballot Forecasts

The Taft and Dewey managers say there can be no talk of a deal until after a few "shakedown ballots" in the convention. Both sides want to see just how strong the other fellow is on two or three ballots. Actually, the Taft managers hope Dewey will lose heavily by the third ballot while Taft holds his own, in which event a deal would be much easier to negotiate—against the ever-present Willkie threat.

Rival first ballot claims show that Dewey should lead the first time the convention votes. A survey today of the different headquarters show they expect these totals:

Dewey, 350—despite claims of 380 to 400.

Taft, 300—despite claims of 334.

Willkie, 144—despite claims of 170.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM WILL OPPOSE WAR

bility for our unpreparedness and for the consequent danger of involving us in war.

"The Republican party is firmly opposed to involving this country in foreign wars. . . .

"Our sympathies have been profoundly stirred by the invasion of defenseless countries whose ideals are closely related to our own."

The plank goes on to recognize aid to these "oppressed people"—but only if such aid "is not in violation of international law, federal law, or the requirements of our own defense." It assails "utterances of the chief executive which might lead to war."

Uphold Monroe Doctrine

In addition, the foreign stand pledges the Republicans to uphold the Monroe Doctrine and to build up the nation's defenses.

Adoption of this foreign plank by the committee came as a distinct victory for the isolationists—a victory won after days of bitter star-chamber conferences.

Rep. Hamilton Fish of New York, one of the leading isolationists in Congress, said that the tentative draft, as reported to him by committee members, "is highly satisfactory."

Fish, who had served notice if the plank did not suit him he would re-open the fight on the floor, withheld entire approval until the drafting is completed.

"But I regard it as not being a compromise and don't think it will be necessary to go to the floor," he added.

In a strongly worded preamble, the G. O. P.'ers take sharp issue with both administration foreign and domestic policies and charge "the New Deal has failed America."

One Stumbling Block

One possible stumbling block lay in the road to final adoption. Senator Lodge of Massachusetts announced he was "considering" carrying to the floor his unsuccessful fight to have the committee include a self-paying old age pension plan.

Although the platform will approve parity payments to farmers as an emergency measure, it assails the New Deal system of making the payments and suggests they be placed on a "profit to price relationship" rather than an "arbitrary" price levels of the 1909-14 years.

The full committee left in endorsement of "the principle of reciprocity" in foreign trade, although it asked congressional approval of trade treaties.

"Equitable" amendments to the Wagner act were recomended, but were not listed in detail.

On the whole the platform insofar as it concerns domestic issues, follows closely the 35,000 word report of Dr. Glenn Frank's program committee which was drafted last winter as a "basis" for the party policy.

With the platform slated for presentation to the convention at 2 o'clock this afternoon, it was becoming increasingly certain that the anti-war sentiment instigated by Hoover, members of the western delegations and other "non-interventionist" leaders was going to be incorporated in the foreign affairs plank.

[illegible] OCCUPYING LEADING ROLE AT G. O. P. CONVENTION

idea of having a good time and in the ranks of the Mummers you are apt to find prominent officials dressed up like Chinese mandarins.

In the convention hall the preliminaries and the shadow boxing are over and the convention is now down to work. The keynote speech of Governor Harold E. Stassen on Monday night had the crowded convention hall tossing straw hats around and cheering. Stassen looks like a blocking halfback who has lost his hair. Big and young looking (he is only 33) he has the size to support the fighting words he tossed out.

Tuesday night, Herbert Hoover, former president, addressed the convention and don't let anybody tell you that Hoover is dead so far as public life is concerned. He is a better speaker now than he was when he was in the White House and around the convention hall and the lobbies of the hotels the hope is freely expressed that if a Republican wins the election Hoover will be invited to serve as Secretary of State.

SOME HIGHLIGHTS

Some of the old time politicians can't make Wendell Willkie out. "He doesn't follow the rules of the game" is their cry and that is probably true. Instead of working way down under cover Willkie's friends are out as much in the open as a football stadium. They go to work on delegates like a terrier gnawing a bone and the results they claim are satisfactory.

John McIlwraith and James M. Smith, Jr., arrived here on Monday and immediately joined the Willkie forces. Mr. McIlwraith has been the Willkie chairman in New Castle and down here he is industriously selling Willkie to anybody he meets providing the stranger wears a delegate's badge.

One of the sights of the convention was McIlwraith trying to convince a square-jawed delegate from Oklahoma by the names of Jones. Mr. Jones said he didn't care who was nominated just so his name was Tom Dewey.

Wednesday is expected to be the peak of the convention attendance with the peak holding through Thursday. Nomination speeches are booked for Wednesday most of the day and Thursday the balloting begins.

Gradually there is talk of the vice presidency and two New England men are mentioned, Styles Bridges of New Hampshire and Baldwin of Connecticut. Bridges' campaign for the presidential nomination has practically folded up as has Vandenburg's.

What the Pennsylvania delegation will do is keeping the managers of the candidates on edge. Frank Harris of Pittsburgh is heading a group that has announced for Willkie and recruits are joining the movement daily.

ITALIAN TROOPS BEGIN TAKING OVER DJIBOTI

closely paralleled those of the Franco-German armistice. Details of both were revealed last night in Berlin and Rome.

Under the armistice terms, which England termed "harsh and humiliating," French frontier areas ranking from 30 to 120 miles in depth must be demilitarized.

Italian troops which fought their way into southeastern France and the Riviera are to remain in occupation of those areas for the duration of the war between the Rome-Berlin allies and Britain.

The entire coast of French Somaliland is to be demilitarized under Italian supervision, as well as broad regions of French Algeria and Tunisia.

Demilitarize Naval Bases

French naval bases and harbor works at Toulon, in the Mediterranean, and three other bases in French North Africa, also are to be demilitarized.

Patterned after the Franco-German truce, the Italo-French armistice helps to immobilize France and also contains some important provisions not included in the Berlin-Bordeaux agreement.

It provides that Italian troops in France are to remain "on their advanced lines in full theatres of operations" until a final peace treaty is concluded.

Under one of the most salient clauses of the truce, Italy obtained an outlet to the sea for conquered Abyssinia in a clause of the armistice which provided:

"They shall have the full and constant right to use the port of Djibouti and all its equipment, together with the French section of the Djibouti-Addis Ababa railroad, for all kinds of transport."

In other major respects, the Italo-French armistice closely corresponds with the Franco-German truce, except in regard to provisions affecting North Africa, the Alpine region and the Mediterranean coastal areas where French and Italian interests meet.

NEW CASTLE'S CENSUS COUNT

ANNOUNCEMENT on Tuesday by Jacob Venger, district census supervisor of the population of New Castle as shown by the just completed 1940 count reveals that New Castle, despite the vicissitudes of the past decade, is keeping in line with practically all of the cities of the district in trend of population.

Figures revealed by Mr. Venger give New Castle 47,643 persons within the city limits. These figures are approximately 1,000 lower than the census totals of 10 years ago. But, with the steady trek of city residents to suburban areas, surrounding this city, as in most other cities, the increased population around the edges will more than offset the small decrease shown within the city borders, and show a real increase for "Greater New Castle."

Population count in four townships, Neshannock, Union, Shenango and North Beaver, in which most of the residential building has developed in recent years, shows approximately 13,500 persons residing in these districts. Taking into consideration these and other populous areas that immediately surround the city borders, "Greater New Castle" is approximately 60,000 population by the count just completed.

In view of the many handicaps that the city has confronted during the past ten years, the slight decrease in total population revealed in the city proper, will prove an incentive to the city and its citizens. New Castle is facing a much brighter future than that which was on the horizon ten years ago, and there is every indication for steady, substantial progress in the years that are just before us.

Pittsburgh, Youngstown, Sharon, Oil City, and many other cities, even Philadelphia, largest in the state, reveal declines in population in the census count just completed, most of them attributing the situation to the same trend as here, movement of city residents to the suburban districts.

New Castle looks to the future with confidence.

REPUBLICAN DEMOCRACY

Democracy in action in the world's greatest Republic is given a timely demonstration by the free-for-all character of the deliberations and actions of the Republican National Convention in Philadelphia. Unbossed by officeholders and uncontrolled by any clique, the convention's debates and final works offer a strange contrast to events in other parts of the universe.

The political convention is peculiar to the United States. No other nation today has anything approaching its great spectacle. And only in the free air of this Republic could it function. The American temperament is as receptive to political conventions, their trimmings and their implications, as it has been from the beginnings of this country. To the nazi, the fascist, the communist and other examples of retarded intellectual growth, a political convention, uncontrolled by those who rule them, live off them and convert them into cannon fodder, would be incomprehensible.

The American conception of "rulers" and how they should be named is now, more than ever, confined to the boundaries of the United States.

So it is not strange to see Democrats watching developments at the Republican convention in Philadelphia. They will have a convention of their own—eagerly watched by Republicans—in three weeks, but they feel that they would be missing something if they ignored the Republican show. And so they would, a statement every Republican will corroborate.

"JANUARY IN JUNE"

It is inevitable that the incidence of the coldest first days of summer in more than forty years in many parts of the United States and the world-shaking events in Europe should be linked in the thoughts of some people, just as were the war days and the cruel winter of 1917-18.

So rare are cold days in late spring or early summer in this country that the instinctive impulse is to search for some occult source or explanation for them. It is unscientific, but highly satisfying to the groping soul of the common man. It does no harm. Rather it is something like a safety valve for those too prone to be overwrought by the daily barrage of bad news.

Yet these rarely cold springs and summers require no extraordinary explanation. "January in June" is no more of a weather freak than "June in January," or February, and who cannot remember balmy Christmas days or an occasional summer temperature in February, the month of blizzards in the North?

The summer sun and the polar winds are in eternal conflict, each doing its share to maintain the balance between the fiery and unwholesome heat of one extreme and the shriveling cold of the other. The world rides in the absolute zero of interstellar space, dependent on the balance of the solar system for just enough, and not too much, heat for life.

If the balance wobbles a little now and then, this is to be expected.

BACK TO OLD WAYS

Most units of government in the United States have been trying financial high jinks of one kind or another in recent years. Slowly but surely they are coming to a realization that there is nothing to replace the old-fashioned budget balancing by which legislature and executive co-operate to spend within income.

Oklahoma, which has been rushing more deeply into debt year by year, decided last year a halt must be called. The legislature weakly passed the buck. It could not bring itself to the point of trimming appropriations, but it gave the governor power to lower them each quarter if it was found there wasn't enough revenue to cover the appropriations. Governor Phillips soon learned that was a thankless job in which he shouldered all the political blame for doing something the legislature should have done.

That is all ended now, however. The state supreme court has ruled it was an illegal delegation of authority to give the governor power to alter legislative appropriations. Governor Phillips says in the next session he'll veto any appropriation beyond the budget. And if the legislature overrides the veto in a debt-making spree, that will not be the governor's fault.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PARENTS TAKE JOBS SERIOUSLY

I HAVE BEEN impressed with the increasing number of letters like the following. They indicate that many of my readers take their job as parents very seriously—some too seriously, perhaps.

"Dear Dr. Myers:—Your column has greatly interested me and especially now that we have our first baby, a three months old son. We hope to give him the finest training we can in order to prepare him for the life that he must carry on by himself.

"Both of us clearly understand our position as parents and realize that a child doesn't begin his education when he begins in school, but as soon as he arrives in this world, that his habits begin to take shape and that his pre-school training is the foundation for his later education.

Wants All Matter

"I, as a mother, would like to have you send me every bit of information which you think will help me in training my boy in the best possible way—concerning discipline, the proper kinds of toys to be used at the various stages, nursery rhymes (source for such); a list of stories and how and when they should be introduced to the child; or anything else you think I should have to guide me. I enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope."

I sent her a list of books and pamphlets, marking those she should read first. I also sent a graded list of playthings, nursery rhymes, stories and the like, most of which she will not need for many more months. I advised her to try to let the child develop normally but to write me later as problems arose which puzzled her. Judging from the letters I receive, hundreds and hundreds of mothers in the United States and Canada are trying hard to be the very best possible mothers.

Young Provider

In the case below, it seems to me the mother showed insight, sympathy and good sense.

"My son, three and a half years old, came to me the other day carrying a chicken (dead) by the feet and said, 'Here's a chicken for dinner, Mamma.' The chicken was a young one and sickly. I was so shocked I couldn't say anything for a minute. Sonny looked so innocent. He didn't seem to think he had done anything wrong. He has seen his daddy kill chickens and he seemed proud of the fact that he had killed a chicken for his mother. I didn't punish him. I simply said, 'Oh, Sonny, that's only a baby chick, and it was sick; never kill chickens—only Daddy kills chickens for us'."

As I wrote this mother, it would be well to supervise this child more hereafter when he is exposed to such creatures until he learns a proper attiude toward them.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. "We are very much interested in the subject of reading to children. We started reading from very simple picture-story books to our son when he was a year and a half old. Now at three his enunciation is excellent and he uses very good grammar. Please send your reading list for babies and young children. A self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp is enclosed."

A. It was sent, as hundreds of others have been. Many parents have been writing me of the good effects they have observed from reading to the young child.

TALK TO YOUTH

"No matter how things are," I heard him say,
"You boys will take our places when we're gone.
Whatever comes of good or ill today,
There will be need for courage later on.
There will be posts which you will have to fill
Requiring patience, industry and skill.

"Whether we fail our venture or succeed,
Whether or not we leave all things awry,
Tomorrow for your best there'll be a need,
And need for strength which you must then supply.
'Tis you that freedom must depend upon.
There will be need for courage later on.

"This troubled earth will look to you for aid.
Many the wrongs 'twill look to you to right;
A better world to live in must be made,
And you must bear the burden of the fight.
Get ready then to labor when we've gone.
There will be need for courage later on."

That's the kind of a town you like
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start on a long, long hike.

You'll find elsewhere what you left behind,
For there's nothing that's really new;
It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town;
It isn't your town, it's you.

And if while you are making your stake
Your neighbor can make one, too,
Your town will be what you want it to be,

Before our neighbor who has two little daughters attending a dancing school, I, the other day, heard another neighbor say: "I don't approve of dancing lessons for young girls. It makes them forward." Throughout life we hear people also criticize religious creeds, political parties and racial traits without checking up on those who may be listening.

Last night, I heard a very learned man purposely mispronounce the name of an important city involved in the present European war to avoid embarrassing a guest who had thus mispronounced it to him. It reminded me of a story my father used to tell me of a great man who entertained a humble tenant at dinner along with a group of wealthy and cultured guests. The tenant poured his coffee into his saucer and began drinking it therefrom to cool it, whereupon the other guests snickered and exchanged knowing looks, so the important host poured his coffee from his own cup into his saucer from which he sipped it in order to put his tenant at ease. Which reminds me that the other day in Washington, one of the corps of correspondents told me this story in reverse. A man invited to one of President Coolidge's famous breakfast conferences was surprised to see the President pour coffee from his cup into his saucer, where he left it for a few minutes during which the guest, wishing to please the Chief Executive, poured his own coffee into his saucer. But after he had done so the President put his saucer on the floor where his favorite dog lapped it up.

Knudsen Confident Ford Can Produce Thousand Planes Daily Held Possible
Knudsen Brought Up In Ford Industry

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Henry Ford's announcement of his plant's ability to produce 1,000 airplanes daily for Uncle Sam's defensive purposes at first was regarded with a deal of skepticism both by unofficial and by most professional critics. However, William S. Knudsen, our nation's new production dictator, accepted the flivver wizard's offer seriously from the very minute when the manufacturer proclaimed it.

Ever since the early days of the last World war, when Ford undertook to "get the boys out of the trenches by Christmas" and failed to do it, the public has tended to regard him as somewhat inclined to over-promise himself in such situations.

Knudsen, however, who learned the rudiments of mass production while working for Ford, knew better. Later, when Bill identified himself with General Motors' Chevrolet subsidiary, it became his job to compete with his ex-boss in the wholesale turning out of autos in the lower price range, and presently he developed into as great a genius at it as his original preceptor. In fact, rivalry between the two spurred mass production's growth up to what it is today.

Knudsen very readily sees the difference between "getting the boys out of the trenches by Christmas" and keying up plane-manufacture to a 1,000 daily rate in short order. He may still be a bit doubtful of the former program's practicability but his own experience tells him that the latter is a perfect feasability with Henry Ford in charge of it.

Generally speaking, Bill Knudsen probably is somewhat more of a realist than Henry is, but he's plenty astute enough to give Henry full credit for understanding what he's talking about on the subject of mass production.

The Monroe Doctrine

Congress' recent warning to the world that the United States won't tolerate any overseas powers' grabs of island or mainland footholds in western hemispherical waters or on our western hemispherical ocean front, of course, wasn't intended as a warning to anybody but the totalitarian nations.

Nobody anticipates any such attempted grabs except by Germany and possibly Italy, of such western hemispherical possessions of whatever European countries they may be able to vanquish on their own side of the Atlantic.

That is to say, congress means British, French, Dutch and Danish holdings on the New World's coast or in its vicinity. They can stay British, French, Dutch or Danish, but nobody else, except Uncle Sam, can have 'em. That's the purport of what's known as the Pittman-Bloom resolution, just adopted on Capitol Hill.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

MILITARY TRAINING

The promoters of the Military Training Camps at Plattsburg in 1915 organized themselves promptly into The Military Training Camps Association and have continued those Camps through the years since War No. 1, doing a very fine work in training mainly men who might become officers in the United States Army.

The Association has advocated in season and out the principle of universal compulsory military training and in time of war universal service for men and women suitable for different ages, as the only measure that will suffice to protect this country in the present world emergency. It takes time and patience to drill a soldier in the art of war. While there are many young men and middle-aged men who would rally to the defense of this nation in any emergency and while they would form an army of very fine, courageous men, they would not know anything about the use of modern weapons, they would know nothing about the necessity of strict obedience to orders; they would be more or less a mob.

It took this nation a year of very intensive training in the military camps before they even dared to send an army to Europe. That army was composed of fine men and assisted by equally fine women, behind the lines, but it was not a well trained army. It knew more when it came out of the war than it did when it went into it a great deal more.

At the close of the War this nation had many remarkably equipped training camps. They cost this nation a lot of money and all of this was thrown to the winds because of the Pacifists. They said there was not going to be any more war. Well, there never was a day in the history of Man that some people were not warring upon some other people.

Now the nation is faced with the necessity of making itself ready for any shock of war and the questions which would have caused great disproval a few years, even a few weeks ago are receiving a different answer today. Even the most rabid Pacifist who is a good citizen is now free of his cockiness and complacency. They perceive that many things which they blindly took for granted—morality, decency, religion, free speech individual elbow room, good faith among nations, law and order, kindness for the ailing, young and helpless, have vanished elsewhere in blood and bombings.

And so, this question which the leaders of The Military Camps Association have placed before the Nation must be treated in a realistic manner.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

by The Baltimore Sun (Copyright, 1940)

Hoover The Key Man

PHILADELPHIA, June 26. THERE are two defeated Republican candidates for the Presidency who will play a part in this convention; one as a delegate from Kansas, the other as a guest. But the towering figure of the two is that of Herbert Hoover, who by invitation addressed the assemblage Tuesday night. There are so many things to say of Mr. Hoover and so many conflicting views of him that it is not easy to compress them in a single column.

HE has here—and in the country—many warm and devoted friends and he also has a great many very emphatic enemies. The most unrelenting of these are certain politicians in his own party, but the most bitter are the New Deal journalists who aided in the great smearing act of 1929-1933. There are people here who believe that Mr. Hoover can be nominated, but not elected, and there are others who are convinced that he cannot be nominated, but could be elected. Then there are those who contend that he can be both nominated and elected and those who are certain he can be neither nominated nor elected.

IT is easy to find plenty of people belonging to all these groups. They are as wide apart as the poles and altogether irreconcilable. However, it is both interesting and significant that there are exceedingly few in any group who do not concede that in the matters of experience and equipment no other party figure measures up to the Hoover statue. And there is another thing upon which most competent observers of this uncontrolled Convention seem to agree—to wit, that the Hoover influence among the delegates is greater than that of any other single individual.

IN addition, to his own California delegation which, in accord with his wish, will not present his name, but is nevertheless composed largely of his friends—in addition to that, in a good many States he has a considerable number of men and women delegates who look to him for leadership. There is no Hoover headquarters, no Hoover organization, no Hoover movement, no Hoover candidacy and, so far as can be judged, slight possibility that Mr. Hoover can be nominated. Moreover, despite a lot of loose talk, there is no evidence whatever that he wants to be. Of course, there is the possibility that after many ballots it may be demonstrated that neither Taft, Willkie nor Dewey can be nominated and the convention then turn to Mr. Hoover.

BUT that is a remote contingency, discussed here and there in a vague and casual way and, of course, alleged by the unfriendly to be the Hoover hope. Mr. Hoover is neither a fool nor a child in politics. He knows perfectly well that however able a speech he made he will stampede no delegates and that some of his warmest admirers in the Convention do not want to see him nominated. Those who know him best are convinced that what Mr. Hoover primarily wants of this Convention is a candidate and a platform that will drive the New Dealers out of power. Notwithstanding the persistency with which the lowest motives are attributed to him by his enemies, they know that he is convinced the nation, tough as it is, cannot stand another four years of the kind of leadership it has had for the past seven.

AT the age of 66 he is entirely clear headed about himself and, has no desire to take on again the terrible burden of the Presidency. Those who dislike Mr. Hoover will not believe that, but it is nonetheless true.

THERE is reason to believe he is not favorable to Mr. Dewey, but as between Senator Taft and Mr. Willkie, both of whom he likes, he has indicated no choice and those who have seen him are uncertain as to his preference. But of this they are not uncertain—it is in Mr. Hoover's power at this time to nominate either one of them.

HE has more than enough weight to insure the selection of the man for whom he plumps. A single statement favoring one or the other would do the job and the practical politicians here know it. He could swing to either one of these men not only the solid California delegation of 44, but a good many others scattered about in the States who are waiting to see what Mr. Hoover wants done. In brief, while he cannot nominate himself, in a fight such as this with the forces fairly evenly divided, he certainly can nominate his choice among the candidates. If there were no other reason for his influence the quite obvious fact that whoever is nominated will need the whole-hearted support of Mr. Hoover to win, would be enough.

Destination Of Fleet Unknown

U. S. Fleet Enroute From Hawaii But No Information On Whereabouts

MAY BE HEADING FOR PANAMA CANAL

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 26.—As Japanese political threats to assume a "protectorate" over French and Dutch possessions in the Far East were intensified today, the U. S. battle fleet was reported enroute from Hawaii to an unknown destination.

What connection there is between these two facts—if any—was a matter of the deepest official secrecy. For the first time in the memory of contemporary capital observers, the White House, state department and navy department refused to give the slightest indication of the destination or purpose of a major fleet movement.

All factual information came from Hawaii, where residents saw the mighty floating fortresses of the battle fleet moving majestically out to sea. From their easterly direction it was assumed there that they were going either to their San Pedro, Cal., home base or through the Panama Canal into the Atlantic.

Most Washington observers pointed out, however, that their initial direction might have been a subterfuge; that their course might have been changed after passing out of visual range of the Hawaiian mainland.

Other observers, however, believed that reports of increased defense activity in the Panama Canal Zone—including reported mining of the canal entrances—indicated that this government expected possible trouble in that locality and was rushing at least some fleet units to the scene.

While the state department withheld even the most innocuous comment on the far eastern situation today, recent statements of department officials denied any intention of this government to surrender the Orient to Japan for the creation of its "new order in Asia." So far as is known, nothing has happened to change this policy.

A SALUTE TO FRANCE

Editor,
New Castle News:

We hear, with sorrow, the surrender of France. One of the great nations of the earth has gone down before the might of the German war machine, but we have faith that it will rise again. The French legions fought nobly and stained their native land with their blood. France, great and glorious France! We honor thee in thy grief and sorrow, and believe that God will help thee rise again.

Seek Contract To Build British Plane Engines

American Auto Manufacturers Are Consulted On Manufacturing Problem

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Negotiations between the National Defense Council and several automobile manufacturers for the production of the British Rolls Royce airplane engine were in progress today following Henry Ford's refusal to turn out these power plans for England's fighting forces.

The council had sought to have produced 6,000 of the Rolls Royce engines for the allied purchasing commission, and an additional 3,000 to 4,000 for the United States government. The Ford Motor company was to have produced them.

Ford informed the council that his organization is willing to make the engines for the United States, but would not produce them for the allied purchasing commission. The latter organization, headed by British Member Arthur B. Purvis, is taking over all French munitions orders in this country.

Ford's refusal to produce the Rolls Royce engines for Great Britain prompted the defense group to look elsewhere.

"Mr. Henry Ford's decision has necessitated the termination of negotiations with the Ford Motor company to manufacture the Rolls Royce engine," the council said. "Cooperation in the production of this important military equipment will be sought elsewhere."

Although officials declined to specify what these other possible sources are, it is known that conversations between various automobile firms and the government have been carried on in recent weeks.

ANTI-BRITISH FEELING MOUNTS IN JAPAN TODAY

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 26.—In view of the anti-British attitude of the Japanese press, two bridges over the border river have been dismantled at Hongkong and border posts were strengthened, Reuters News Agency reported.

BRITISH FORCES MAKE LANDING ON ENEMY COASTLINE

sea and air was made known as the British Isles counted 4 dead and 13 injured in violent new German air raids last night.

An official communique disclosing the new British offensive operations said:

"In cooperation with the royal air force, naval and military raiders yesterday carried out successful reconnaissances of the enemy coastline.

Landings Effected

"Landings were effected at a number of points, contact made with German troops and casualties inflicted.

"Some enemy dead fell into our hands and much useful information was obtained.

"Our forces suffered no casualties."

The communique did not disclose where the landings were made or how many men were involved. Nor did it state whether any landing parties were left in German-controlled territory or whether the British returned home when their mission was completed.

Earlier, the air ministry had announced a series of blistering raids on German-controlled airports such as Waalhaven, near Rotterdam.

Chancellor Hitler's air raiders loosed their incendiary and high explosive bombs over coastal England, the Midlands, Wales and southern Scotland, but an official statement declared there was "no serious damage to military objectives and damage to property appears to be not serious while casualties were slight."

Five Shot Down

Five of the attacking German planes were reported shot down, either by royal air force fighters or by anti-aircraft batteries from the ground. A sixth German bomber was believed shot down in Wales.

Civilians in the southeast area of Scotland experienced a thrilling few moments when they witnessed a terrible air duel between a British fighter and a Nazi bomber in the glare of anti-aircraft searchlights.

Red streaks of tracer bullets finding their mark in the huge German bombing plane could be seen from the ground, but finally a second RAF fighter joined the fray and the battling planes zoomed out of sight.

A similar scene was witnessed in northeast England, where British fighters engaged one bomber while a second Nazi plane dumped its load of explosives and beat a hasty retreat.

Bombs Dropped In Wales

In Wales several bombs were dropped.

In the midlands and in southwestern England, the populace twice returned to air raid shelters until Nazi raiders were dispersed.

Two fatal casualties occurred when a bomb registered a direct hit on a dwelling in southeast Scotland. Two others were seriously injured by the same explosion. A third fatality occurred in the midlands, where six additional persons were hurt.

The Germans crossed the North Sea and the English coast shortly after midnight, and an official air ministry communique revealed:

"Enemy aircraft crossed the coast during the night and anti-aircraft guns went into action."

The regional commissioner at Edinburg reported:

"During an air raid in the early hours over southeast Scotland, bombs were dropped on several districts. Fighters and anti-aircraft guns went into action, and three bombers were shot down."

What's What At A Glance

Bloom, respectively of the senatorial and representatives' foreign relations committees, are the resolution's authors. Pittman's name precedes Sol's, because Key is a senator. The fact is, nevertheless, that Sol Bloom is better acquainted with foreign affairs than any other half dozen members of both houses of congress. He acquired his information by travels all over Europe, and acquaintanceship with Europe's present "big men" before they'd graduated into leadership. He was quite a buddy of Mussolini. He knew Hitler when Adolf was a peewee. He doesn't like 'em any more, but he has "their numbers."

He once told me, "I haven't much schooling, but I've had a lot of education." That's how he rates as a foreign expert. He doesn't profess to be much of a theorist, but (gosh!) he's practical.

Protective Custody

Herr Hitler did one of the brightest things in his life, when, the Germans having occupied Paris, he refrained from putting William C. Bullitt, our ambassador there, into "protective custody."

Bill simply loves the limelight.

His notion was, virtually, to take over the French government's functions, when the Nazis took possession of the capital. Then the story was broadcast that the German command had, to put it mildly, arrested him.

The Nazis denied it, but the U. S. embassy didn't—though it could, if it had chosen to do so. If it had been true it would have been grand advertising for William. It was a cinch that Herr Hitler wouldn't have permitted any harm to befall him. But the publicity he'd have had out of it would have been something to write home about.

Herr Hitler, though, was too crafty to permit him to capitalize what would have been his great opportunity—if Adolf had co-operated with him.

So Bill remains merely a member of one of the first families of Philadelphia.

Record Crowd At Operetta Tuesday

Chorus Group Presents Music Of Stephen Foster In Colorful Fashion

Before a record packed house, the Mahoningtown Young Peoples Chorus presented a colorful version of the one-act operetta, "Biography of Stephen Foster," Tuesday night in the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church.

With a cast of about 25, the chorus group scored a hit and brought to a close a very successful first year of activity. Just one year ago this month the chorus was organized and began practicing for the first musical program.

During the year many musical programs have been presented, the chorus has grown in number, and is now looked upon as one of the leading chorus groups in the district. The growth and activity of the chorus has been largely through the untiring efforts of Miss Violet Shuler, who has served since organization as director.

According to Miss Shuler, the chorus will have a month's rest period, and will resume practices on July 30, at which time all former members of the organization will return.

A flower garden scene was the setting for the program Tuesday, and a profusion of colors was used in decorating. In addition, the chorus members added to the colorful spectacle by wearing costumes, similar to those worn during the lifetime of Stephen Foster.

Presbytery Hears Dr. S. A. Kirkbride

Centennial Of Rich Hill Church Celebrated By Shenango Presbytery, Tuesday

A celebration of the centennial of the founding of the Rich Hill Presbyterian church featured the meeting of Shenango Presbytery held Tuesday morning and afternoon in that church, an interesting historical address by Dr. Sherman A. Kirkbride of New Wilmington highlighting the program.

Dr. Kirkbride traced the host church's connection with Presbytery from the time it was concerned with the Philadelphia Presbytery.

Rev. H. K. Miller, pastor of Rich Hill church and moderator of Presbytery, had charge of the meeting. At the morning session, which began at 10 o'clock, Rev. E. A. Shoemaker of Westfield church, commissioner to the synod meeting held at Chambersburg last week, gave his report. The devotional service for the day was conducted by Rev. William L. Wishart, B. D., of the First Presbyterian church, Sharon. Rev. Wishart's talk was most interesting, giving an interpretation of the Christian way out of the world's difficulties.

Dinner was served at noon by the ladies of Rich Hill church. At 1:30, Presbytery reconvened when the centennial observance took place. In addition to Dr. Kirkbride's address, neighboring pastors, Rev. W. A. Lloyd of Leesburg Presbyterian church and Dr. Grant E. Fisher of New Castle, made remarks. The latter gave reminiscences of his boyhood days at Rich Hill.

Reports by commissioners to the General Assembly at Rochester, N. Y., May 23-29, followed, talks being given by Sherman McConnell, elder in the Rich Hill church; Dr. Wishart of Sharon, and Rev. William F. Byers, pastor of Neshannock church, New Wilmington. An interesting report of her work in Cameroun, Africa, was then presented by Miss Evelyn Miller, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. H. K. Miller, a missionary who is home on furlough.

During the business session, W. M. McConahey of Sharon resigned as treasurer of Presbytery and was replaced by Charles V. Marshall, First Presbyterian church, Sharon. Rev. John Earl Myers, Jr., new pastor of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church, was received as a new member, coming from the Pittsburgh Prebytery. He was recently ordained at the Point Breeze church, Pittsburgh, accepted a call to Mahoningtown and will be installed there on Friday evening, June 28, at 7:45 o'clock.

Next meeting of Shenango Presbytery will be held the third Tuesday of September in the Bessemer Presbyterian church when Presbytery will be re-organized with a complete revision of all officers and committees.

The completion of painting on the outside of the building, the putting of the finishing touches to the interior, and the completion of the basement recreation hall are all that stand between the actual completion of the structure. Light fixtures were installed Tuesday and furniture, purchased by the dramatics club, an organization within the grange, was placed on the stage of the auditorium Monday.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

SUMMER CARE

Just about the most dangerous illness your baby can develop at this time is summer diarrhea. Not the type caused by overfeeding to which I referred yesterday, but the kind that is caused by some infection. The medical profession usually refers to it as acute intestinal intoxication, or intestinal toxaemia. It is better known among laymen as Summer complaint.

When this kind of diarrhea afflicts your baby, you must act quickly. Its symptoms develop much more rapidly than does diarrhea from overfeeding. Your child may be perfectly normal and healthy one day, and twenty-four hours later he will be vomiting every time he takes anything in his stomach. At the same time he will be passing watery stools. Very often these stools are accompanied by the passage of blood. Sometimes this blood only stains the diapers, but too often it is there in some quantities.

The onset of the disease is so sudden that mothers are often misled. They infer that baby has just eaten something that has disagreed with him and will be alright in a day or so. This waiting for the disease to clear up itself is very unwise. If your baby develops any symptoms similar to those described above during the next couple of months, lose no time calling your doctor. loss of water from the body is so rapid when intentinal intoxication seizes on a child that he is in great danger of losing his life.

Where does this infection come from? Often from the food the baby eats. It may be on the nipple of the bottle from which he takes his food. It may be in the bottle into which the milk is poured. It may be in the milk itself. Consequently it is necessary for Mother of a bottle-fed baby to make absolutely sure the bottles and nipples she uses are thoroughly sterilized. Give them no chance for contamination after they are sterilized. Make sure that the milk is pasteurized, and that the container it is kept in are sterilized also.

Of course, these rules should be followed religiously the year around, but during summer precautions must be doubled for the chances of infection are greatly increased.

It isn't hard to see what a strong argument is made in favor of breast feeding by the necessities of summer care of babies and the prevention of summer complaint. It is almost impossible for breast milk to become contaminated and give the baby intestinal intoxication. As a matter of fact, studies of this infection show that it is confined almost entirely to bottle fed babies. However, if the mother of a breast-fed child brings her baby into close contact with another baby who has the infection, he may fall a victim too.

Tomorrow: More about Summer care of baby.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

Mrs. Mike Harakal and daughters entertained a group of friends and relatives Saturday evening at a miscellaneous shower for her daughter, Mrs. Michael Hardisky, a recent bride. Evening hours were passed in dancing, games and music, and a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses. The honoree received many beautiful and useful gifts.

ALLEISSO-PEDULLA

A nuptial high mass was solemnized Saturday morning before a beautifully embanked altar of ferns and flowers in St. Lucy's Church in New Castle, uniting in marriage Jennie Delores Alleisso, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Alleisso, and Joseph Pedulla, son of Frank Pedulla, of the Plaingrove road. The Rev. Sebastian Ippolito celebrated the mass at 10 o'clock, using the double ring ceremony. Preceding the ceremony, appropriate organ music was played. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white silk Marquisette, made entrain, and her long veil was caught with a crown of seeded pearls, and she carried white lillies.

Nancy Barillaro, of Ellwood City, was maid of honor, and Frank Gaurneri Jr., was best man. Kathryn Alleisso, sister of the bride, and Kathryn Calautto, of Youngstown, were bridesmaids. Ushers were Joseph Schemizza and Quitto Crisciari. A wedding dinner was served at the bride's home following the ceremony. After a trip to New York City, the couple will reside in their newly furnished home on the Plaingrove road.

No Change Made In Regulations To Enter Canada

There has been no change in regulations for American citizens entering Canada for travel, the New Castle Motor club announced today.

Rumors that special restrictions have been placed on tourists going there for tours "are wrong," the club said. The New Castle organization, through the American Automobile Association, is in contact with the Canadian legation in Washington, and the Automobile Club of Buffalo promises to notify it of any changes.

Along with the unending inquiries as to New England touring routes, the club has received "many calls" about Canadian roads. Requests for information on western routes, it was said, have been "unusually heavy" for this season of the year.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Heat cramps are described in the Bible.

Men doing hot work have always suffered from this malady.

Many deaths have resulted from cramps and heat exhaustion.

Heat cramps are not caused, directly, by the heat.

Loss of salt through excessive sweating, is the cause.

Men working in mills, mines and quarries now take salt.

Salt is added to the drinking water or taken in tablet form.

The average worker needs a teaspoon of salt per gallon.

Eight 10-grain salt tablets equal a teaspoonful of salt.

Workers on medium work need 5 or 6 tablets a day.

Men doing extra heavy hot work require 12 to 15 tablets a day.

Few industrial workers who take salt suffer abdominal cramps.

60th Anniversary To Be Observed By Local Couple

Mr. And Mrs. Luther Rugh Of Lilyville To Celebrate Wedding Date

ELLWOOD CITY, June 26.—Outstanding among the local activities of Thursday, July 4, will be a celebration marking the sixtieth wedding anniversary of a prominent Franklin township couple, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Rugh, of near Lilyville.

The anniversary occurs on July 1, but will not be observed until the Fourth, when "open house" will be the order of the day. All relatives and friends are invited to call at the home.

In the evening, there will be a family dinner for the children and their families. Mr. and Mrs. Rugh, who are enjoying fairly good health, are the parents of four children, Mrs. Emmett Gallaher, of the Ellwood-Zelienople road; Mrs. Oliver Koach, of Riverview, Mrs. Bernice Mitchell, of Rochester; and William Rugh, at home. They also have fifteen grand and seventeen great-grandchildren.

They have resided their entire lifetime in the immediate vicinity of their present home and are well-known and esteemed.

The bride of sixty years was Miss Mary Deemer. They were married at Harmony by Rev. R. L. Burns, pastor of the Church of God, of that place, and were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Adam McQuiston and Mr. and Mrs. Sampson Deemer. The McQuistons and Mrs. Deemer are still living

Marjorie Faught Mission Society

ELLWOOD CITY, June 26.—Members of the Marjorie Faught Missionary society of the First United Presbyterian church were graciously entertained last evening at the Burrows home, in Fountain avenue.

The program opened with a temperance report given by Mrs. Ruth McCowan after which an article on tithe was reviewed by Mrs. Helen Vinroe. Mrs. Frank Goff led the devotional period and an article, "The Bible, A Book of One Thousand Tongues" was given by Miss Janet Stroupt. Work of vacation Bible schools was described by Mrs. Clyde Gibson.

A pleasant social hour followed for the fourteen members attending after which the hostesses, Miss Bessie Burrows, Mrs. Clyde Gibson and Mrs. Hugh Tomb, served cooling refreshments.

Tuesday, June 23, marks the time of the next meeting with the place to be decided.

Lilyville Parsonage Work Progressing

ELLWOOD CITY, June 26—Work of excavating the basement of the new parsonage of the Lilyville Church of God, located on the Ellwood-Zelienople road, has been completed and is being delayed now pending suitable weather for pouring cement for the walls, which will be of concrete.

The house, to be of a colonial type, will have six rooms and a large recreation room in the basement to be used for church social activities. A large part of the work is being done by members and friends of the church actively aided by their pastor, Rev. L. A. Lightfritz. A well has been dug with a fine vein of water resulting, adding much to the desirability of the manse location. The property was donated by John A. Hardy in memory of his wife.

Willing Workers To Have Picnic

ELLWOOD CITY, June 26.—Twenty members of the Willing Workers class of the Lilyville Church of God were hospitably entertained last evening for the June meeting at the McQuiston home, near North Sewickley.

The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. L. A. Lightfritz and the business was in charge of Mrs. Ferd Kaufman. It was agreed to give a sum of money for church repairs.

A merry social hour followed after which a dainty lunch was served by Miss Doris McQuiston and Miss Gladys Kiesling.

Plans were made to meet again on Tuesday, July 23, at Ewing Park grove for a picnic with Mrs. Kaufman in charge of arrangements.

At the next meeting, on Tuesday, July 9, the local group will entertain the Sharon sorority.

Junior C. D. Of A. Rally Here Sunday

Butler, Midland, New Castle, Beaver Valley Courts To Participate

ELLWOOD CITY, June 26.—Butler, Midland, New Castle, Beaver Valley and Ellwood City courts will gather in this city on Sunday afternoon for a Junior Catholic Daughters of America rally.

The affair will begin with an initiation service at the Elks club, in Crescent avenue, at 2 o'clock, after which the group will re-assemble at Ewing Park Grove for field work. The Midland court will initiate the Ellwood groups and a special feature will be the Butler bugle corps composed of some sixty girls. Refreshments will follow the ceremony, which includes the crowning of a queen.

Arrangements for the event are in charge of Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Dillon, of Midland and the four local counsellors, Mrs. Michael Ruscille, Mrs. Mary Desport, Miss Anna Bradley and Miss Eva Walzack.

The hidden message was deciphered from the letter I and the numbers 1 and 6 received in a censured letter to his wife. Boys Work Reviewed At Kiwanis Meeting

Thirty Boys To Be Sent To Camp Thompson For Week's Stay In July

ELLWOOD CITY, June 26.—Boys work conducted by various organizations of the city and especially their own projects was reveiwed in an interesting manner at the weekly dinner meeting of the Kiwanis club last evening in the Trinity Lutheran church diningroom.

Collins Boyce was in charge of the program and first presented Chief of Police, Ernest Hartman, who told of the work that is done by the boy scout service corps. This is a group of 30 boys of senior age who have passed many requirements and who have had special training in first aid work and fire fighting. They recently acquired a first-aid ambulance trunk and can respond to emergencies in a few minutes time. They have been instructed by Mr Hartman in basic fundamentals in directing traffic and parking and other police duties and aid the local force considerably.

Ellwood district president, Charles Carbeau, explained the boy scout camp activities, now in session, and reported that the full registration of forty scouts has been made for the three week camping period. Mr. Carbeau said the scout financial campaign is still open and asked cooperation of the membership.

The Kiwanis club is having their annual "less chance" boys camp at Camp Thompson for one week following the scout activities. They will have the same directors, cooks, and program as the scouts with the expense to be handled by the Kiwanians. Thirty boys chosen from a list submitted by the school nurse will be taken to the camp.

PENNSYLVANIA MAN FINDS SATISFYING RELIEF FROM GAS PAINS, CONSTIPATION

Men and Women Report Remarkable Relief with "Williams Formula".

W. O. Hamilton

A remarkable medicine, new to New Castle and vicinity, is bringing great relief to men and women suffering from that "run-down, sickly feeling" due to acid stomach, gas, bloat and constipation. The sale of this medicine, known as "Williams Formula," is sensational, declare druggists at the Pay Less Drug Store where it is being sold.

People suffering from acid indigestion, stomach gas, sick headaches, nervousness, dizziness, "half alive" feeling because of excess acidity and lazy elimination declare they can hardly believe the wonderful relief they have experienced from taking Williams Formula.

WHY THOUSANDS PRAISE IT

Floods of letters have been pouring in from grateful users, praising this remarkable medicine. Typical of these letters is the statement of W. O. Hamilton, widely known resident of Franklin, Pa., who says:

"I have suffered with stomach gas pains with much soreness upon pressure, all across my stomach. I have had headaches and much constipation. I lacked pep and interest and as my work is at night, I must get my rest in the daytime. Well, I really got very little, because I was nervous, "achey" and with this continued stomach distress, soreness and those terrifying gas pains moving up my left side toward my heart!

I saw a new medicine in here, and I'm telling the truth when I say I've taken gallons of other medicines. But I obtained a bottle of this Williams Formula to try. I obtained such satisfying and quick relief I was afraid to tell my wife for fear it would not continue, but as I have taken more Williams Formula, it has, and I am much relieved of headaches and stomach soreness and delighted that I do not have to give up smoking, which I thought for awhile, I might have to do."

You cannot do your best work and get the most enjoyment out of life when you're feeling "draggy," drowsy, "no account," nervous or have headaches and upset stomach, due to sluggish eliminative action of bowels and kidneys.

Today thousands of these people will tell you that Williams Formula helps them to a new sense of well-being. So make the "Williams Formula Test" today. Give this medicine a real chance to show what it may do for you. "Williams Formula" is available in three sizes to suit your convenience. Get a bottle of Williams' Formula today at Pay Less Drug Store.

Great Cole Bros. Circus, Bigger And Better, Due Soon

Circus Day this year in New Castle will be Tuesday, July 9, when the trains bearing Cole Bros. Circus will pull into town and hundreds of performers and animals will wend their way to the circus grounds. Equipment wagons, horses, tractors, elephants, all will be put into use to transport the huge show through the streets.

Ken Maynard and his wonder horse, Tarzan, and scores of cowboys, cowgirls, Indians and frontiersmen, all rigged out in their flashy costumes will start for the lot and by noon everything will be ready for the two performances to be given here.

New animals from Singapore, India and Africa, together with tigers, lions and other species from the various zoos in America, have been added to the menagerie.

From now until circus day advance representatives for the show will be in town, making final arrangements. Purchasing agents will be here lining up groceries, meats, bread (a thousand loaves by the way) eggs, milks, sugar and so on for the 2,000 meals that are served every day to the personnel of the circus.

Six thousand pounds of hay, two hundred bushels of oats, three thousand pounds of straw, more if it rains so to keep the ground dry, four hundred pounds of bran, are just a few items for the animal department.

Over 200 acts with the show this year in addition to Ken Maynard include The Loyal-Repenski family, of bareback riders, The Escalante Troupe, The Gasca Troupe, Weber Bros. and Chattita. The Martinez family from old Mexico, The Skating Rockets from Oslo, Norway, fifty clowns headed by Otto Griebling, world"s funniest pantomimist and a gorgeous pageant entitled "La Habana" which serves as a prelude to the circus proper. Two performances will be given in New Castle, July 9, starting at 2 and 8 p. m. and the doors to the big tent will open one hour in advance to allow patrons to inspect the huge double menagerie carried this year.

Swarming Bees Cause Excitement

Bees Leave Hive And Locate On Tree Near Cunningham Avenue Home

Excitement was caused recently by the swarming of the bees from one of the three hives owned by Heber Anderson, of 725 Cunningham avenue. The bees located on a tree near the home.

Mr. Anderson called Lou Hawthorne, West Pittsburg road, former County bee inspector, to come to the scene.

Both men set to work taking the scap apart to discover the cause of the commotion, and it was found that there were two new queen bees, and two others in cones ready to hatch, within the hives. To prevent more swarming, they removed the new queens, and quiet was restored.

As a rule, the beekeeper inspects his hives regularly, and the new queen cells are eliminated, unless the present queen is found to be of no further use in laying eggs, when one queen cell is allowed to hatch, to take its place.

Donald Anderson, Mr. Anderson's son, adds, that when a multiple of queens develop in the scap, sometimes the worker bees, who are unsexed, join the queen bees in the war of the "survival of the fittest," stinging all but one queen to death, thus bringing order and quiet, for work to proceed within the hive. The remaining queen rules the hive.

When last Mr. Anderson inspected the hives, the bees so covered the cells, that the queen cells, which are larger, escaped his attention.

Yanks Out Front On June 26, 1939

New Yorkers Ahead Of Cleveland Indians By 15 Games Year Ago

How times do change—even in the dizzy sports rialto.

As a clear cut example, we exhibit last year's American League standing.

On June 26, 1939, the New York Yankees were firmly set at the top of the heap, leading the Boston Red Sox by 13 games and the Cleveland Indians by 15.

Today—the Yanks, once mighty and feared, are in the second division, behind the St. Louis Brownies, 10 games out of first place.

Here's how the first four teams shaped up in the standing a year ago today:

Clubs.	1939 G.	W.	L.	Pct.	G.B.
New York	58	46	12	793
Boston	54	31	23	574	13

Indians Increase Lead In League

Cleveland Again Trips Yankees To Put The Champs Ten Games Back Of First Place

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 26.—It's hard to believe western reports that the Yanks have their daubers down.

It is doubly hard to believe for two reasons: first, because the Yanks are a world's championship club and have been for four straight years and such clubs usually don't lose either their poise or their courage.

Second, the club is led by Joe McCarthy and Joe is the last man in the world to stand for any player quitting on him.

Nevertheless, it is apparent there is something radically wrong with the Yanks.

Pirates Top Phils

Maybe McCarthy will be able to get them clicking again eventually but it had better be soon. They are now 10 games off the pace as a result of the Indians 5-3, 5-inning, rain-shortened victory yesterday.

Meanwhile the Tigers and Red Sox were battling to a draw in a double-header. Jack Wilson won the opener for Boston, 11-7.

Hal Newhouser, Detroit's precocious 19-year-old ace, won the nightcap, 5 to 1.

In the only other day game, the Pirates got a 9-7 verdict over the Phils.

The Brooklyn Dodgers lost a chance to get into first place in the National League when they were crushed 8 to 3 by the Chicago Cubs in the 13th inning of a night game.

In the two American League night game, St. Louis defeated Philadelphia 12 to 10 and Washington bested Chicago 7 to 6.

BROWN SPARKPLUG - By Jack Sords

Sports World Ramblings

Sports spray—New Castle golfers did exceedingly well in the third annual $500 Poland Open. Angelo Monsey posted 150 to grab himself some cabbage, six strokes behind the winner, Reggie Myles, of Cleveland. Jimmy Pagley, an amateur, toured the course in 152 during the tourney. E. Grommes chalked up a similar score. G. Bilawick paced the amateur coterie. Mose Mancine and R. Monsey failed to climb within the charmed circle. . . .

Several localites watched Joe Louis carve Arturo Godoy last week. Jack Schepp and Ed Young Sr., watched the championship melee as did Johnny Kraft, who formerly pounded a typewriter for this sheet. In addition, Schepp and Young visited the World's Fair, Governor's Island and witnessed the Brooklyn-St. Louis night game in which Owen and Durocher squared off. . . .

While writing about Joe Louis, it occurred to us that it's about time that the pugilistic circle breaks down and admits that the Detroit Destroyer really has what it takes. If anyone has ever met the endless string of challenges, Louis has. The Bomber draws no line. His method of annihilation probably causes the boxing world to think that Louis is meeting a flock of hams. Foes look mediocre because Louis is so outstanding. . . .

Besides, Louis has been a tribute to the game. His conduct outside the ring matches his finest inside the ropes. He cherishes the title but has never permitted bouquets of the mob to balloon his head. He fights cleanly and practices sportsmanship to the tenth degree. He is a champion of champions. . . .

Cleveland Indian rooters have adopted a theme song, "I've Got My Eyes On You." They mean—the pennant. . . . Bobby Feller, who kayoed the Yanks again, has whiffed 109 batters so far this season. . . . "Babe" (good-field no-hit) Dahlgren, has committed two miscues so far this season. His second came Monday night in Cleveland. . . . Cincy ranks as the top night ball team in the majors. Last year, the Reds won eight after dark tiffs compared to two losses. . . .

St. Louis fans, believe it or not, are commencing to show a little life—for the Brownies. The erstwhile cellar occupants of the American League don't look half bad. Some of baseball's master minds predict that they will finish ahead of the Yanks, which shouldn't be hard to do, especially if the champs continue their present pace. . . .

In grabbing Al Lopez, Pirate moguls finally reached for the right prescription. Aside from being able to handle all types of pitchers, Lopez is noted for his inspirational qualities. Lopez has already commenced to pay dividends, so far as the pitching staff is concerned. . . . If anyone deserves a slot in the all-star game, Elbie Fletcher, Pirate first sacker does. Aside from driving in 48 runs, up to yesterday, Fletcher had clubbed out 10 homers. His fielding leaves little to be desired. . . .

Johnny Gee Is On Retired List Rest Of Season

Pittsburgh Pirates Forced To Put Gee On Retired List When Option Is Called Off

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 26. — Big Johnny Gee, the six-foot nine inch pitcher for whom the Pirates parted with four players and $35,000 in cash, has been placed on the retired list, President Bill Benswanger announced Tuesday.

Gee's option was cancelled by President Clarence M. Schindler, of the Syracuse club, with whom he had been playing. Gee was in Benswanger's office when Schindler telephoned and severed the option.

The Pirates obtained Gee from Syracuse last fall and he pitched three games. After this season's spring training sessions, he was sent back to Syracuse under option. Gee will work out under a doctor's care to try and cure his ailing arm.

Benswanger was forced to put Gee in the retired list after the option was cancelled since the Pirates at present are at the full strength permitted by the league.

Galento Favored To Defeat Baer

Majority Of Boxing Experts Pick Two-Ton Tony To Flatten Maxie-Slapsie

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 26.—With Joe Louis among those who pick Max Baer to beat Tony Galento on Tuesday night of next week in the Jersey City ball park, we can offer today in rebuttal to the heavyweight champion's forecast that a majority are going to string along with Galento in keeping with the betting odds that slightly favor him. Having done that, we are going to present the following facts, factors and figures on the situation for the benefit of those who are interested, if any.

The fight is going to bring together two of the hardest hitters ever to clamber into a ring, but also two gentlemen who for vastly different reasons never could attain greatness even when they were good. Galento never was anything more than a clumsy puncher and in his years of campaigning blew decisions to gents long since forgotten. But he always had plenty of heart and toughness.

Baer Lacks Heart

Baer never used the finer points of boxing either and he, too, was hard to hurt, and might have gone on to a place beside the best of them, but he lacked heart.

Both have been handy with a tankard or goblet through most of their lives, with the result that Baer went over his peak long before he should have after winning the championship. Galento still has his beer when the notion strikes him as of today, six days before the fight, he weighs approximately 240 pounds. He says that's all right, and he will do about 235 and be fit. Baer is in as good shape as he ever will be at around 220.

PLANE LANDS IN WAMPUM FIELD

While enroute from New York City to Reno, Nev., a Fairchild Monocoupe made a forced landing in a potato field just below Wampum, Tuesday afternoon.

There were three occupants in the airplane and the pilot was reported to have lost his way and decided to land the ship before his gasoline supply was exhausted.

After securing gasoline from a nearby station, the plane again took to the air, landing at the New Castle Airport, where it remained over night.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Since the annual High School reunion fell by the wayside . . . a few of the classes have decided to hold a reunion of their own. The one we have in mind now happens to be the June class of 1939. This will be their first reunion and it will be held at Lakewood Beach from 4 o'clock until ???? this coming Thursday . . . which is tomorrow. If we remember correctly this June class was the largest class to ever graduate from the local school. A large crowd is expected and a good time we know will be had. If you plan to attend, bring a basket filled with the necessary things for a picnic.

A rain with all the trimmings passed over this section of the country last night . . . and when we say with all the trimmings we mean all the tremblings. The loud clap of thunder really rocked the country side . . . we are just wondering if something more than thunder made that report . . . and just between the three of us . . . enough rain is enough, and we have had that.

* * *

If it would clear up and the sun would shine and the stars would have clear sailing . . . tonight would be a good time to visit the Skeet Shoot to be held at the Fair Grounds . . . shooting starts at 6 o'clock. These affairs prove very interesting . . . we have some mighty fine gunners here in New Castle and vicinity . . . go out to one of these meets and look them over.

* * *

It's that same old story . . . one that we would like to see explained. Mr. and Mrs. XYZ live in New Castle, they make their money from the people of New Castle but they think they must do their shopping out of town . . . days come and go and Mr. XYZ is moved from his local position to another one in a nearby big city. What happens now . . . instead of buying in the town which they live, and did buy in while in New Castle . . . they start buying in New Castle. Queer people live in this world. Just why do people act like that?

Some day we hope to see the city buy sanitary garbage collecting trucks. They would not only make things cleaner but speed up collections. Other towns smaller than New Castle wouldn't be without them . . . it's an idea to work on when buying new equipment.

Stock Market Meets Support

Market Continues To Give Ground Following Opening, Later Meets Support

By LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, June 26.—The stock market continued to give ground today, with leaders off 1 to more than 2 points and several bluechips down as much as 4.

Heavy-industry shares again were leaders on the downside, including steels, chemicals and electrical equipments.

Support developed late in the second hour, and leaders cut down extreme losses on a wide front.

Losses of fractions to more than a point were the rule in the motors, mail orders, rails, rail equipments, coppers, tobaccos and farm implements.

The second-hour recovery cut declines throughout the list, some issues regaining as much as a point from their early lows.

More Power For Churchill Sought

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 26.—Demands for untrammelled power for Prime Minister Winston Churchill and a purge of the "old Munich gang" began to come into the open today after weeks of behind-the-scenes perturbation which increased sharply since France's surrender.

Dismissal from government positions of men like former Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, whose names were associated with the Munich pact, is being urged, "not because of past errors but because of their potential future influence."

There is not the slightest intention, informed quarters said, of the British government making any peace approach to Germany through any medium whatever and there is an absolute determination to continue the war.

But there is an obvious feeling in political circles, notably Laborite, that Churchill does not possess enough real power for the present emergency and is too much under the domination of men whose names are connected with the Munich fiasco.

It is being frankly stated that Chamberlain and former Air Minister Sir Kingsley Wood, as leaders of the National and London Conservative parties respectively, are still able to wield tremendous influence.

AROUND CITY HALL

Proprietors of business houses are very neglectful, according to Police Chief Willis G. McMullen. More than half a dozen failed to lock their establishments last night. Police on patrol discovered the open doors, he reported. An unlocked door to a business house is an invitation to burglars. Proprietors should always try doors before leaving at night for home, he asserted.

Property damage reportedly was committed by boys at 939 Marshall avenue last night, police were informed.

William Browntree, 349 Neshannock avenue, reported to police last night the theft from his auto of a wheel and tire.

Flag Day Association Urges Productive Work

The following is a copy of identical letter as registered and sent by William T. Kerr, founder and (since 1898) national president of the American Flag Day Association, to Hon. Key Pitman, chairman of the U. S. senate foreign relations committee, also to Hon. Sol Bloom, chairman of the house of representatives foreign relations committee, urging them and other senate and house committees to provide productive work for the United States idle millions as a stop-war agitation among the idle millions of the nation:

"Having met a cross section of the country during my participation in Flag Week celebrations, June 8 to 14, particularly in Pittsburgh, including all political parties, creeds, and races, the concensus of opinion expressed was enthusiastic for complete preparedness for our national defense, but visiting soldiers' hospitals where victims of the first World War are confined, shows without exception their opinion that a poll of the inmates of the eighty-five (85) United States hospitals should be taken before congress sends forces abroad, and they feel it would be unanimous against sending our armed forces overseas.

"Hitler stopped idleness in Germany by putting all unemployed Germans to work in his army. We should stop any Socialistic-Communistic trend in the United States by providing production work for our idle millions who are unable to secure work in this land of plenty, and do it quickly.

"With apparent agitation for our active entry into war and preparedness being considered, it is our views, representing an association with membership of patriotic nation loving Americans throughout the United States, that this should receive prompt consideration at the hands of all other committees in addition to your own.

"We feel that our nation, with its great resources and standing in the world today will be of far more use in the re-construction period than in actual war. However, our nation should take every means of self defense as suggested above and continue to supply nations fighting for their liberty and democracy, with all available material and resources within legal limit of our ability to do so as a non-belligerent.

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 26.—Pleading guilty to two charges of perjury, Harrison "Playboy" McCready Tuesday was sentenced to serve from three months to three years in the county workhouse. He will be given until July 2 to straighten out his affairs.

McCready was accused of falsely testifying in Judge Ralph H. Smith's court that he was on the "water wagon" after having taken the "cure" at a Pittsburgh sanitarium. Later, it was learned that he had taken the "cure," but that it didn't stick.

Judge William H. McNaugher passed the sentence. McCready's wife, Patricia Silvertooth McCready, sat in a wheel chair, sobbing quietly while the jurist lectured her husband and pronounced the sentence. She is recovering from a fractured leg and spine injuries suffered recently when she fell from an East End hotel window.
